SMART SET IN A MIGRATORY MOOD

Many Prominent People Planning to Spend Summer on American or European Continents — Long Trips the Fashion.

MISS Wilhelmna Tenney was the motif for an informal and enjoyable dancing party that was given last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond on Beretania Ave. This large house is well adapted for dancing, for the drawing room, living room and dining room can be thrown into one and converted into one large dancing hall. The rooms were transferred into a bower with pink and white bigonias, baskets of the artistic asparagus vine and fancy baskets of choice maidenhair fern. The adjustment of tropical palms resulted in numerous tete-a-tete nooks that were enjoyed by the young people between dances. The dancing favors on this occasion deserve especial mention. The favors for the girls were miniature fans adorned with violets and tied with lavender tulle. Boutonnieres of violets were bestowed upon the men. At eleven o'clock a delicious supper was served. An excellent Hawaiian quartette club played for the dancing, and furnished music during the supper.

Among those observed were Dr. and Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Jaeger, Dr. and Mrs. George Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Baker Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Miss Wilhelmna Tenney, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Mina Berger, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Beatrice Castle, Miss Juliette Atherton, Miss McKenzie, Miss Katherine Stephens, Miss Bertha Kopke, Miss Hattie Lucas, Miss Rosie Herbert, the Misses Buckland (2), Miss Catherine Goodale, Miss Lily Paty, Miss Alice Cooper, Miss Blanche Soper, Miss Marjorie Freeth, Mr. Ed Hedeman, Mr. Clarence Waterhouse, Mr. Alan Robinson, Mr. Robert Catton, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Charlie Herbert, Mr. Vernon Tenney, Mr. Walter Kendall, Mr. Robert McCarriston, Mr. Bert Clark, Mr. Charles Lucas, Mr. Walter Rycroft, Mr. Sumner, Mr. Ted Cooper, Mr. Marcus Monsarrat, Mr. Allison Jordan, Mr. Henry Damon, Mr. George Fuller, Mr. Frank Armstrong, Mr. Kenneth Abies, and others.

Kitchen Shower.
Miss Sara Lucas is giving a "kitchen shower" this afternoon in honor of Miss Claire Williams. This entertainment will be a complete surprise to this young society girl, who is under the impression that a few of her friends will be invited to tea by the hostess. The large dining room of the Lucas home is festooned with strands of malle, and from these vines are hung hundreds of scarlet hearts of different sizes. A number of saucy little cupids are in evidence, contributing their share to the pre-nuptial idea. The shower will take place in this room, which will be curtained off, until refreshments are served. As the unsuspecting guest of honor proceeds through the archway accepted Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr.'s.

Stag Dinner.
On Monday, May 29th, Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., will entertain his ushers and bestman at a stag dinner that will be given at the Union Ggill. Covers will be arranged for fourteen. Mr. Benjamin Lodge Marx, a brother-in-law of the prospective bride, and Dr. Clifford B. High are the only guests outside the wedding party that have been invited to the dinner. Dr. High has made the gold wedding ring for the bride, and Mr. Benjamin Marx will give his sister into the keeping of the groom. The following bachelors and bachelorettes are expected to attend: Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr.'s.

Miss Mina Berger's Picnic Party.
A score of Miss Mina Berger's and Miss Wilhelmna Tenney's friends will be entertained tomorrow by Miss Berger. The majority of the young people will motor to the Frederick Macfarlane's peninsula home, where luncheon will be served. After luncheon boating and swimming will be enjoyed. Miss Wilhelmna Tenney will be the incentive for this affair. Among Mrs. and Miss Berger's guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Alan Jaeger, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Piedmont, Cal., Miss Violet Mabee, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Tillie Newman, Miss Hattie Lucas, Mr. Ed Hedeman, Mr. Robert McCarriston, Mr. George Fuller, Mr. Guy Macfarlane, Lieut. Robinson, Mr. Bert Clark, Lieut. Pine, and others.

Dr. and Mrs. Moore's Dinner.
A family dinner party was enjoyed by the relatives of Dr. and Mrs. Moore. This delightful gathering took place Tuesday evening at the Moore's home, Green street. The appointments of the table were exceedingly pretty and the floral decorations were attractive. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dwight Lowrey, Miss Beatrice Castle, Mr. Sherwood Lowrey and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn's Dinner.
A handsome dinner was given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marlin Hepburn. The decorations, dinner service and place cards—the latter bearing monogram of the hostess—were in gold. Cosmos formed an effective floral decoration. Among those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn's hospitality were Judge and Mrs. William Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, Rev. and Mrs. John Erdman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davidson's Dinner.
Eight covers were laid at the dinner last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davidson entertained complimentary to Mrs. H. Morgan and Mrs. Riley of San Francisco, Cal. Golden Coropais and lace ferns produced an effective floral decoration. The place cards were hand painted, and adorned with coropais.

Dinner on Board U. S. S. Thetis.
Lieutenant Robinson entertained last evening in honor of Miss Wilhelmna Tenney. The table was bedecked with violets. A courage bouquet of these flowers were utilized as favors for the "fair sex." Mr. and invitation: Mr. George Fuller, Mr. H. H. Walker, Senator Eric Knudsen, Mr. Gerrit P. Wilder, Mr. Ed Hedeman, Mr. James Wilder, Mr. Gustav Schaefer, Dr. Hedeman, Mr. Harold Castle, Dr. James Judd, Dr. Clifford B. High, Mr. Benjamin L. Marx and Mr. Ed Dusenberg.

Senator and Mrs. Knudsen's Dinner.
Prior to their departure for Kaula, Senator and Mrs. Eric Alfred Knudsen entertained Saturday evening a half dozen friends informally at dinner. Duchess roses and similar decorated the table. The following society folk were present: Mr. and Mrs. William Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Waterhouse.

Miss Jessie Kennedy's Luncheon.
A dozen friends are being entertained at luncheon this afternoon by Miss Jessie Kennedy at her home on Victoria street. Miss Wilhelmna Tenney who leaves Wednesday for the coast is the guest of honor. Although Miss Tenney does not care particularly for society, she is very popular, and has been lavishly entertained during the past fortnight, by her legion of friends. Among the young society girls and patrons bidden to this enjoyable affair were Miss Tenney, Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Miss Helen North, Miss Violet Mabee, Miss Muriel Howatt, Miss Mina Berger and others.

Miss Williams' Dinner.
An event that is being keenly anticipated is the dinner that will be given by Miss Claire Williams in honor of her maids of honor, and youthful bridesmaids. This affair will be quite elaborate and will be given on the Monday evening before her wedding. On this evening her fiancé, Mr. Bruce Cartwright Jr., will entertain his ushers and bestman at dinner. Miss Williams' dinner will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lodge Marx. Those who will participate in this affair will be Miss Claire Williams, Mrs. Marx, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Edith Williams, the Misses Moore (3) and the Misses Weaver (2). Pink will be the color scheme.

Captain and Mrs. Putnam's Dinner.
Last evening, the Commandant of Fort Ruger and his attractive wife entertained informally at dinner in honor of their house guests, Lieutenant and Mrs. Watkins. The appointments of the table were especially pretty, the color scheme was carried out in tones of yellow. Coropais were the flowers introduced in the decorative scheme. After dinner the host, hostess and guests devoted their time to "bridge." Among those present were Captain and Mrs. Putnam, Captain and Mrs. Clark of Fort Ruger, Lieutenant and Mrs. Watkins and others.

Dr. and Mrs. Moore's Dinner.

Dinner on Board U. S. S. Thetis.
Lieutenant Robinson entertained last evening in honor of Miss Wilhelmna Tenney. The table was bedecked with violets. A courage bouquet of these flowers were utilized as favors for the "fair sex." Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer chaperoned the party. Covers were arranged for ten. After dinner the host and his guests attended Miss Violet Mabee's dancing party.

Mrs. Henriques' Tea.
An enjoyable tea was given Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edward Tenney, and Mrs. Helen Noonan, by Mrs. Henriques in Nuuanu Valley. The drawing room were filled with Easter lilies and tropical palms, the dining room was decorated in green and yellow. Coropais and maiden hair fern adorned the long oval table at which tea and coffee was served. A corps of Japanese waiters clad in spotless white, passed ices and cakes. Mrs. Smithers poured tea, and served coffee. Among the guests were Mrs. Edward Tenney, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Bishop and Mrs. Henry Bond Restarick, Reverend and Mrs. Kroll, Mrs. Sam Allen, Mrs. C. Holloway, Mrs. Robert Lewers, Mrs. McWayne, Mrs. Palmer Woods, Mrs. George Herbert, the Misses Ladd (2), Sister Beatrice and Sister Alberta, Mrs. Smithies and others.

Mrs. Gustav Schaefer's Bridge Party.
Mrs. Gustav Schaefer and Mrs. Arthur Davidson poured tea and coffee at the buffet tea that was served at the conclusion of the bridge party at which Mrs. Frederick Damon presided as hostess. Honolulu's smart set is devoted to bridge, this form of amusement being popular among the island hostesses. At Thursday's entertainment prizes consisting of afternoon coffee cups in Coalport, Dresden and Doulton ware were awarded to each table. The fortunate winners were Mrs. E. Morris Grossman, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Harvey Murray, Mrs. Robert Bond and Mrs. Arthur Wall. The card tables were arranged on the spacious lanai overlooking the sea. Refreshments were served in the dining room at a circular table bedecked with maidenhair fern and yellow coropais. Mrs. Gustav Schaefer poured tea in a graceful fashion. This pretty young society matron wore a pale pink silk frock with a large white lingerie hat adorned with pink roses. Mrs. Arthur Davidson served coffee at the other end of the table. Mrs. Davidson was clad in a chic white embroidered lingerie gown, a black plumed hat adding to the smartness of the costume. Japanese mats passed ices, cakes and bon-bons. The hostess looked charming in a heavily embroidered mulle, inlet with lace. Among Mrs. Damon's guests were Mrs. C. B. Wood, Mrs. Frank Richardson, Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. Theodore Lansing, Mrs. M. Edmund Grossman, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Mrs. Harry Murray, Mrs. Ormond Wall, Mrs. Bert Petrie, Mrs. Charles Wilder, Mrs. George Davidson, Mrs. Lackland, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Clinton Ballentyne, Mrs. Nelson Baker Lansing, and others.

Mrs. Frank Richardson's Bridge Party.
Dainty Irish crochet jabots were awarded as prizes at the bridge party at which Mrs. Frank Richardson presided as hostess Tuesday afternoon. These pretty trophies were won by Mrs. Day, Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. Mabelle Phillips and Mrs. Lackland. The four tables were arranged in the living room and dining room. The decorations were a profusion of maidenhair fern in jardiniere and in large hanging baskets; numerous palms were also introduced as a decoration. Mrs. Richardson's entertainments are always enjoyable, although the affair of Tuesday was informal that did not detract from the pleasure.

Miss Carroll's Dinner.
It is becoming quite the thing for the smart set of Honolulu to give "shell fish dinners." These dinners are generally given directly after the steamer "arrives from San Francisco. The plunked fish—which by the way is delicious—is always Hawaiian fish, but the shrimp, crab and oysters are from the mainland. Monday evening Miss Grace Carroll was hostess at one of these delightful affairs. Double red carnations were used as a decoration, the place cards were hand-painted depicting Hawaiian fish in water colors. Inscribed on these guest cards were appropriate jingles that caused much merriment. Among those who partook of this delicious dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Du Roi, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. White, Mr. and Mrs. Fiske, Mr. Haneberg, Miss G. Folke, and Mr. Brown of San Francisco.

Mrs. H. H. Williams' Card Party.
A large number of members and invited friends of the Order of Eastern Star were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Williams on of the afternoon, in fact lent additional charm. Those present were Mrs. Theodore Lansing, Mrs. Mabelle Phillips, Mrs. Frank Halstead, Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. George Davidson, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Nelson Baker Lansing, Mrs. Ormond Wall, Mrs. Haneberg, Mrs. Frederick Damon, Miss Stella Peck, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. John Dyer, Mrs. Emil Waterman, Mrs. Lackland, Mrs. Day, Mrs. M. Edmund Grossman, Mrs. Meyer of San Francisco, Cal., and others.

Wednesday Bridge Club.
One of the most delightful club meetings of the week occurred Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ward at Fort De Russy, when this young matron entertained the "Fortnightly Wednesday Bridge Club." The pretty, cozy bungalow was filled with cut flowers and maidenhair fern. The places for each guest at the card tables were designated by pen and ink sketches, depicting historical old English castles. These cards were later used to keep the score with. The prizes were in Canton ware. This china is all the vogue not only in Honolulu, but is the rage in New York and other eastern cities. Mrs. Turner of Fort Ruger won the first prize, a Canton salad platter, and Miss Putnam captured the second, a tall vase of Canton china. At half after four o'clock the hostess and her guests gathered around the cozy tea table, where refreshments were served, and an hour was spent in social chit-chat. Among those present were Mrs. Ward, her mother, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Arthur Marx, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Pardee, Mrs. Sheedy, Mrs. Smith, and others.

United Service Bridge Club.
Exceptionally pretty prizes were awarded at the United Service Bridge Club that met Monday at the Ladies' Annex of the University Club. This club derives its name from the fact that the women belonging to the different branches of the Army and Navy united efforts and organized this enjoyable club. Most of the members play bridge, but seven or eight prefer the game of hearts, which is considered just as scientific as the former game. Mrs. Johnson of Fort Ruger possessed the highest score at the heart table and was presented with two after-dinner Canton cups and saucers. Mrs. Arthur Marx was the highest "bridget," and Mrs. Putnam was a close second. The prize that Mrs. Marx won was a picture of the Madonna, framed in polished koa wood. A tall beaten brass candlestick was presented to Mrs. Putnam. The full complement of members was present with the addition of four invited guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham's Dinner.
Pretty and informal was the dinner given Tuesday evening in compliment of Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd Smith, who have decided to spend the summer and fall months in Massachusetts, and who leave Wednesday for the coast. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham were the host and hostess and the setting for the dinner was their artistic and attractive bungalow on Beretania avenue. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham those present were Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd Smith, Major and Mrs. George Potter, Judge and Mrs. William Whitney, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Entertain.
A pleasant picnic party was given by Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer to their guests at the Hotel Courtland Sunday. This was an out-of-door affair and took place at Waikiki. The day was ideal for the outing. The party motored to Waikiki, tiffin was served under the trees and palms. It drew a view of the volcano of Mauna Kea, which is needless to state that the luncheon was dainty and delicious; when Mrs. Palmer had the supervision of it, for her reputation as a caterer is par excellence.

Mr. Andrews of New York, who has been extensively entertained since his arrival in these islands, will leave Tuesday for Hawaii, where he will view the volcano of Mauna Kea, which is needless to state that the luncheon was dainty and delicious; when Mrs. Palmer had the supervision of it, for her reputation as a caterer is par excellence.
